BOTH WERE STRONG.

But the Price Had a Shade the Better
of the Flavoring.

"I don't kick at having to pay good prices," an irate patron of high priced restaurants was saying yesterday, "but,
I ask you, isn't $1.50 for garlic rather strong? As for me, the recollection almost makes me weep.

"I was giving a dinner for six last night, and as a part of the dinner I ordered two racks of lamb. The price on the carte du jour was $8 a rack.
That's pretty high, but these are high times. I have a great opinion as to the merits of a dash of garlic in cookery, so to the waiter who took my order I suggested that the dish on which the lamb was to be served should be rubbed with garlic, as one frequently does in making a salad.

"When the bill came the item for the racks of lamb was not $16, but $17.50. The waiter could not explain the increase. I called for the head waiter. He went to the checker and came back.

"The rack of lamb plain would have been $16," he explained. "The extra $1.50 was for the garlic."

"One cent would have covered the cost of the garlic, and another cent
would have covered labor and all overhead charges. I figure that the profit to the house on that garlic was 7500
per cent."—New York Times.

They Do Indeed.

"Absence makes the heart grow
fonder." "So do presents."—Harvard Lampoon.

Easy.

"Your wife needs rides in the open air."

"All right, doc. I'll drop word among the real estate agents that I might look at property in the suburbs."

PROF. PHELAN RESIGNS

Head of Rural School Department at Stevens Point Normal is Going to Massachusetts.

Prof. John Phelan, head of the rural school department of the Stevens Point Normal school, has tendered his resignation and will sever his connection with the institution at the close of the present summer session.

To friends of the Normal and modern education generally, this announcement will be received with genuine regret, but there will be some consolation in knowing that a decided advance in his profession awaits him. Mr. Phelan goes to the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst, Mass., one of the largest and best known institutions of its kind in the country, as professor in charge of the department of rural sociology.

The rural school department of the Normal was organized in September, 1912, by Mr. Phelan. There were twenty-five students the first year; during the term just closed the department had an enrollment of ninety-two. Mr. Phelan has accomplished great things in an educational way, not only at the Normal but throughout the rural schools of the county, where he cooperated with Co. Supt. Bannach. He has also lent his enthusiastic support to civic enterprises, particularly the community institute held last February.

Prof. Phelan and wife, who was formerly Miss Ida M. Densmore, at one time grammar grade critic at the Normal, like Stevens Point and the people of the city and will depart with not a little reluctance. They will leave about Aug. 1st. Mr. Phelan to do institute work at Wausau and Friendship for two weeks, and Mrs. Phelan and little son, John Densmore, to visit at Superior. They expect to be in Massachusetts by the middle of August.

In short, the entire schedule for No. 17 will be an hour earlier. Owing to changes in meeting points, No. 3, Chicago to Minneapolis, which now arrives here at 1:38 a. m., will be thirteen minutes later. No. 103, the Ashland branch train, will make connections with No. 17 instead of No. 8, leaving Spencer at 2:50 a. m., twenty-five minutes earlier than at present.

HELP THE KIDNEYS

Stevens Point Readers Are Learning the Way.

It's the little kidney ills—The lame, weak or aching back—The unnoticed urinary disorders—That may lead to dropsy and Bright's disease. When the kidneys are weak, Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills. A remedy especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney troubles for 50 years. Endorsed by 30,000 people—endorsed at home. Proof in a Stevens Point citizen's statement.

F. C. Holman, 418 Dixon street, says: "I was hurt in an accident and it affected my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they fixed me up in good shape. I know that they are a fine kidney medicine."

Mr. Holman is only one of many Stevens Point people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Holman had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c at all stores. Where are the weather wise folks who for the past two or three years have been loudly asserting that our seasons are getting drier? In the greater part of the land so far this year so much rain has fallen that one instinctively thinks of Noah's ark and the deluge.

A Medicine Chest for 25c.

In this chest you have an excellent remedy for toothache, bruises, sprains, stiff neck, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism and for most emergencies. One 25c bottle of Sloan's Liniment does it all—this because these ailments are symptoms, not diseases, and are caused by congestion and inflammation. If you doubt, ask those who use Sloan's Liniment, or better still, buy a 25c bottle and prove it. All druggists.

Cleveland's one cent car line, which operates on a fifteen minute schedule from the public square to the passenger boat docks on the lake front, promises to be a paying institution. Passengers must have the exact change or put in a three cent ticket or a nickel.

Billious Attacks.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

Have you noticed that nearly every automobile manufacturer has a lower price on the 1916 machine than he had on the 1915 machine? And he is adding the improvements suggested by genius, time and experience. Pretty soon they will get the price down so that the average editor can afford to take a good look at an auto.

Your Cough Can Be Stopped.

Using care to avoid draughts, exposure, sudden changes, and taking a treatment of Dr. King's New Discovery, will positively relieve, and in time will surely rid you, of your cough. The first dose soothes the irritation, checks your cough, which stops in a short time. Dr. King's New Discovery has been used successfully for 45 years and is guaranteed to cure you. Money back if it fails. Get a bottle from your druggist; it costs only a little and will help you so much.

Your Health—depends on—Your Spine

A perfect spine insures perfect health. A subluxed spine is the cause of disease. If the nerves connecting with the stomach are pinched by a subluxation of the spine, you will have stomach trouble. If the nerves that are supplying the heart are pinched, the heart will be affected. This is true of other organs and tissues of the body.

I do not ask your troubles—I will tell you what you are suffering from.

Saved on the Gallows

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

Famous in English history is that Duke of Gloucester who murdered his two nephews in the Tower of London, one of whom was the rightful heir to the throne, and made himself king of England in the prince's stead.

At that time there lived in England Robert Percy, a young man of the most admirable qualities. It was some time before the secret of the murder of the young prince began to leak out, and when it did there were low mutterings on the part of the people. Percy, who was familiar with the king's treachery, was more loud spoken than others, and Richard, aware of the young man's influence with the masses and fearing that he would bring about a revolt, ordered his arrest on a charge of high treason.

On the day that Percy was conducted along a street leading to the Tower, surrounded by men at arms, the curbs were lined with sympathizers, who breathed prayers that he might escape the danger threatening him and muttered maledictions on the head of the tyrant.

At an upper window stood Lady Gwendolen Bickford, a younger daughter of the Earl of Charenton. She looked down on young Percy, walking erect between his guards, his bearing indicating that he was ready and willing to lay down his life in contending against crime. Every one believed that he was going to his death. His manly beauty, his noble bearing and the crown of martyrdom rendered him an object of pity to all. But to Lady Gwendolen he was more than this. Within those few minutes during which he was passing her heart left her bosom and settled upon him. Percy, happening to look in her direction, saw the lovelight in her eyes, and his load was lightened.

Richard, fearing to lose Percy to execution without a trial, lest it excite the people to revolt, directed attorneys to prepare a case against him. Persons were bribed to swear that he had been heard advocating the king's assassination and placing the Duke of Richmond on the throne. Lady Gwendolen, hearing of this, begged her father to induce lawyers to defend the accused. The earl not only knew that the case was hopeless, but did not dare to oppose the king; consequently he refused to have anything to do with it.

One day Lady Gwendolen went to that quarter of London given over to lawyers and found Roger Moore, an old attorney who had served her father, and consulted him as to what might be done to save young Percy. After listening to what the girl had to say he replied that Percy's case was hopeless because the king had decreed that he should die. "He will surely be convicted," said the old man. "After his conviction there is but one way by which he may legally escape the gallows. But should he go free under this statute the king would doubtless find some other way to get rid of him."

Lady Gwendolen asked the attorney to what law he referred, and he replied that it was a decree of King Edward IV., naming a condition on which a man about to be hanged should go free. As soon as the girl heard the condition her face lighted with hope. To fulfill it was possible, but would it avail in the end?

Percy was convicted of high treason against the king and sentenced to be hanged and quartered on a certain date. At the time an army was gathering under the Duke of Richmond to depose the king, and Richard was gathering his forces to meet it. There had been a former attempt to put the duke on the throne in the king's place, but Richard was as bold and energetic as he was wicked and had defeated all attempts against his authority.

There was no one he feared to leave in his rear so much as Robert Percy, and when he had made all preparations to march against his opponents he delayed a day to make sure that this dangerous enemy was dead.

The day before the one set for the execution Lady Gwendolen Bickford was closeted with Roger Moore, and on the following morning, when the crowd went to Tyburn to witness the hanging, these two were of the number, and when the prisoner arrived they occupied seats near the scaffold. When all was ready and the condemned man was about to be swung off Roger Moore arose and said:

"Mr. Sheriff, as counsel for the prisoner I claim his body under an edict of King Edward IV., who decreed that whenever a man is convicted of crime and is about to be hanged, if there be a woman willing to marry him, he shall go free. This woman beside me is willing and ready to marry the prisoner."

This speech naturally disconcerted the sheriff, who had never heard of the statute. The judge who had convicted the prisoner was present at the hanging, and the matter was referred to him. He at once confirmed Roger Moore's statement, whereupon Percy was unbound, the black cap taken from his head, and he looked down upon the upturned face of Lady Gwendolen Bickford.

The king waited till the hour for the execution, then, supposing Percy to be dead, galloped off to Bosworth field, where a few days later he was defeated and killed. Robert Percy was in Richmond's army, and Richmond becoming king ennobled him, thus giving him equal rank with the girl who had saved his life by marrying him.

TWO GREAT INVENTORS.

Their Foresight Did Not Equal Their Ingenious Ability.

Not infrequently great inventors do not comprehend the significance of the thing they have produced. An interesting anecdote of two famous men of science whose foresight did not equal their inventive ability appears in Les Inventions Illustres.

When Hertz first began to obtain satisfactory results from his now famous researches into the possibility of transmitting electric waves certain men of science suggested that some day similar vibrations might serve to transmit messages through space. Hertz laughed at the hypothesis and assured all comers that his experiments were for laboratories only. Now, after a few short years, it is hard to find a single issue of a daily paper that does not record some noteworthy example of the use of wireless telegraphy.

Levassor was the great engineer who sketched the automobile with such skill that his design has not been materially changed to this day. After Levassor accomplished his historic trip from Paris to Bordeaux and return at the dizzy speed of about fifteen miles an hour his admirers gave him a banquet. During the toasts one of them, stirred by the spirit of the occasion, rose and enthusiastically called on the assembly to drink to the approaching day when carriages should travel at the speed of sixty miles an hour. Levassor turned to his nearest neighbor and asked in a quick undertone, "Why is it that after every banquet some people feel called on to make fools of themselves?"

IRON IN WATER.

It Takes Only the Least Little Bit to Make Itself Felt.

Half a part per million of iron in water is detectable by taste, and more than four or five parts makes water unpalatable. In some mineral springs iron is the constituent which imparts a medicinal value to the water, but ordinarily it is undesirable. More than 2.5 parts per million in water used for laundering makes a stain on the clothes. Iron must be removed from water from which ice is made or a cloudy, discolored product will result. An iron content of over two or three parts per million in water used in the manufacture of paper will stain the paper.

Iron is harmful in water used for steaming, for it is in equilibrium with acids which inside the boiler become dissociated, with the result that the free acids corrode the boiler plates, but the amount of iron carried in solution by most waters is so small that the damage it does to steam boilers generally amounts to little.

Waters having a high iron content have in some places, where they have been used as city supplies, caused an immense amount of trouble and expense, for they favor the growth of crenothrix to such a degree that the water pipes become clogged with the iron sheaths of that organism. The removal of iron from water is sometimes easy and sometimes very difficult.—United States Geological Survey.

Quits.

Little Maudie would tell "whoppers." One day her aunt thought she ought to be cured of this habit, so she spoke seriously to the little maid, who promised to mend her ways.

To point the moral auntie told the tale of the shepherd boy who was always calling "Wolf!" until no one could believe him. Then one day the wolf really came and ate up all the sheep.

"All the sheep?" interrupted Maudie. "Yes, every one of them," replied auntie decidedly.

"Every single one?"

Auntie nodded. "Well," said Maudie slowly, "I don't believe you, and you don't believe me. So there!"—London Answers.

Food For Punsters.

"I don't see how Fussie gets any enjoyment out of his food. He's dieting, you know."

"Yes."

"He uses this new 'mathematical masticatory' system."

"Good gracious, what's that? So many chews to the mouthful?"

"No. He eats beans by the dozen, rice by the grain, fish by the perch and spaghetti by the yard."

"Does he seem better?"

"Measurably so."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Drink Plenty of Water.

A Roumanian scientist claims that any one can live to be 100 years old, barring accidents, if he drinks enough water. He declares he has discovered that old age is due to a decrease in the amount of water in the system and that Father Time may be checked by systematic water drinking during middle age.

Buying Wives.

Wives are still obtained by purchase in some parts of Russia. In the district of Kamyschin, on the Volga, this is practically the only way in which marriages are brought about. The price of a pretty girl from a well to do family ranges from $100 to $200.

Same Way.

"How did you find dear old Broadway?"

"That way yet."

"What way?"

"Old and dear."—Cleveland Leader.

Be satisfied with success in even the smallest matter and think that even such a result is no trifle.—Marcus Aurelius.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Sammy Robideau Aspires to Lightweight Title.

Little Sammy Robideau, who made everybody sit up with a start when he flattened Gilbert Gallant in four rounds recently, is perhaps the most dangerous pugilist in the ring today. He is one man who has the entire respect of Champion Welsh.

Robideau was born in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1902. He enlisted in the United States navy in 1909 and began his career as a fighter in the service. He beat all the good ones in the navy, and after his discharge he went to Philadelphia, applied to Jack McGuigan for a berth and has been with him ever since. One man is responsible for Robideau's improvement. This is Little Johnny Loftus, who piloted Ketchel, Frankie Neil, Leach Cross, Al Kaufman and Jack Johnson. Loftus said in speaking of his latest charge:

"He will win the title sure. He is the hardest hitter alive, and he is going ahead all the time. He has had about fifty battles and never has been knocked out, though I will say Joe Shugrue almost turned it at the Garden. You remember Joe landed one on Sam's chops, and he took a count of seven for his bit. Robideau thinks Gallant is the roughest and toughest fellow he ever met, while Jimmy Duffy is the classiest. I only hope Welsh gives us our chance. I'll state my life on it that he knocks the Welshman cold."

Olympian Stowaway Turns Boxer.

Harry Norton, the schoolboy whose propensity for traveling led him to become a stowaway on the ship that carried the American athletes to Stockholm on the occasion of the last Olympiad, has turned a boxer. Norton made his professional debut a few weeks ago in a four round preliminary and made such a showing that three fight managers have offered to look after his business affairs. Norton stopped Kid Moulton in three rounds. His work showed class throughout. Norton stripped to 110 pounds. He declares he is cured of the wanderlust.

Amateur Baseball League.

E. C. Patterson of New York was re-elected president of the National Amateur Baseball association at a meeting at Cleveland. C. C. Townes of Cleveland and George Ruechel of Louisville were elected vice presidents and E. C. Seaton, Chicago, secretary and treasurer. Pittsburgh and Detroit were admitted to membership in the league. Applications from about forty other cities were received. Reports were made showing the healthy growth of amateur baseball and plans discussed for the 1915 amateur world's championship series.

Nickalls Coming Back.

Guy Nickalls, the English oarsman, sailed from London on Feb. 20 to take charge of coaching the Yale university crews, according to a statement by Captain Benegre at a mass meeting of crew candidates. More than 200 students presented themselves as candidates for positions in the varsity and freshman boats. Practice on the machines will begin soon in the gymnasium.

English Horse Wins King's Cup.

The winner of the King-emperor's cup at Calcutta on Christmas was the English bred Arthur B. by Athl. and on the following day he ran second to Bachelor's Wedding in the Viceroy's cup. This makes six consecutive victories for British bred stock in the Viceroy's cup, which was formerly monopolized by Australian breeds.

Peterson Heads Oarsmen.

The Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen elected Henry C. Peterson president. The San Francisco rowing organization indorsed the application of San Diego for this year's annual championship of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. This regatta will be awarded next March.

GUNPOWDER.

Some In Which the Perforated Grains Are Three Inches Long.

The bigger the gun the bigger the grain of powder. For the rifles the men carry the grains are half as big as a pinhead. For the largest guns they are three inches long and three-quarters of an inch thick. Every grain is perforated lengthwise. Small grains have a single hole, while the largest sizes have seven.

These holes regulate in a wonderful way the rapidity with which the powder will burn. If you light a scrap of paper all round the edge it will burn toward the center and the burning surface will steadily decrease. If, however, you made a hole in the center of the paper and start the conflagration there the flame will steadily grow, and the most rapid burning will take place just before the fire has reached the outer edge. This is the exact principle which governs the arrangement of the perforations in big gunpowder. The burning starts along the surface exposed by the perforations and spreads always faster as the hole is enlarged, burning fastest at the instant it is consumed.

It is not intended that the charge in big guns shall exhaust its force instantly, says William Atherton Dupuy, writing on "Powder For the World's Guns." The beginning of the explosion starts the projectile on its way. The explosion continues, and as the projectile gains speed the force behind it continues to push. The powder is burning fastest and pushing hardest at the instant the projectile reaches the mouth of the gun. At that instant also it burns out and exhausts itself. Its work is done.—Pearson's Weekly.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

The Pleasure That Came With a Little Act of Kindness.

"I am one of your new neighbors, Mrs. Estabrooks," said a cheerful voice at our door in the very middle of our first attempt at moving. "No, I can't come in. I just brought you a bit of lunch, knowing you would be too busy to fix any. Please call on me—just next door—if I can be of any help. Goodby!"

My husband and I glanced at that tray with its two bowls of hot soup and steaming little pot of coffee and then at each other in dumb surprise.

We had just reached that dreadful state in moving when nothing is in place and the things wanted first are underneath the things wanted last—that awful moment when a sense of helplessness, weakness and homesickness combined swoops down upon you.

We had not realized that we were hungry and physically exhausted, but after sitting down at an improvised table and sampling that delicious soup and drinking the stimulating coffee we suddenly knew what had been the matter with us. Courage returned.

"Blessings on our neighbor!" cried Ben.

"Yes," I answered. "She's the jolliest caller I ever received. She has taught me how to introduce yourself to new neighbors and win their everlasting gratitude. Whatever happens in this neighborhood I'll stand by Mrs. Estabrooks—see if I don't!"—Woman's Home Companion.

Public Penance.

A quaint old law for the punishment of petty offenders exists to this day in Middleburg, the Netherlands, and anything resembling it is not known to exist elsewhere. Owing to dampness weeds quickly spring up in the streets between the paving stones, and here, under the eye of a none too severe guard, the offenders are put to work with a large trowel shaped knife clearing away the upspringing blades of green. Each is provided with a wooden stool; hence it may be imagined that they are not hard driven. Here men and women alike who have been convicted work in this manner.

Joy of Anticipation.

The youngest girl of a Baltimore family was recently much distressed at dessert to discover that there was ice cream for dinner.

"Oh, papa," exclaimed the youngster reproachfully, "why didn't they tell me this morning that we were going to have ice cream?"

"What difference would that have made?"

"Lots," sighed the child. "I could have expected it all day."—Exchange.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

One-third of the fools in the country think they can beat a lawyer expounding the laws. One-half think they can beat the doctor in healing the sick. Two-thirds of them think they can put the minister in the hole expounding the gospel, and all of them think they can beat the editor running a paper.

Constipation Causes Most Ills.

Accumulated waste in your thirty feet of bowels causes absorption of poisons, tends to produce fevers, upsets digestion. You belch gas, feel stuffy, irritable, almost cranky. It isn't you—it's your condition. Eliminate this poisonous waste by taking one or two Dr. King's New Life Pills to-night. Enjoy a full, free bowel movement in the morning—you feel so grateful. Get an original bottle, containing 36 pills, from your druggist today for 25c.

Restored to Good Health.

"I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otto Gans, Zanesville, Ohio. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope of being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere.

WOODS THAT SINK.
There Are Many Varieties That Will Not Float in Water.
That wood floats is such a commonplace fact in our lives that we hardly give it any thought. If we lived in tropical climates we would learn to distinguish between woods that float and woods that do not float. Many of the woods of Mexico and South America are so heavy even when perfectly dry that they will sink in water, notably lignum vitae, which is the wood commonly used for bowling balls.
Among our common native woods
there are several that will not float
when green. The cypress of the south is often girdled a year before it is cut so that it will die and dry while standing, thus making it possible to float the logs to the mill.
The reason why some woods float is not because the substance of which they are made is lighter than water,
but because the cavities in the cells
are so large that the air in them buoys up the wood. The material (cellulose) which composes the greater part of the cell wall is heavier than water, so that if the air in the cells is replaced by water the wood will sink. This is just what happens to wood which has been in water for a long time and has become "waterlogged."
It is the large water content of the heartwood of freshly felled oaks and hickories and of the sapwood of certain conifers that causes these woods
to sink, for when dry they will float.
Lignum vitae and other heavy tropical woods, even when dry, sink because most of the cell cavities are so small compared to the thick cell walls that the air in the cavities is not enough to float the wood.

CULTIVATE RELIABILITY.
It Is Always In Demand and Adds to a Man's Worth.
The demand for reliability never ceases. If you buy a piece of machinery you want it to be dependable.
When you purchase new clothes you desire them to be durable. If you elect an official you require that he shall be trustworthy. When you take on an employee you inquire whether he can be relied on, as to his word, his work, his loyalty. It is so in all the relations of life. While there is much unreliability, you never hear of anybody seeking it or placing a premium upon it.
The reliable man is always spoken of in terms of praise. His friends boast that he can be depended upon to do a certain thing under a certain set of circumstances without variableness or shadow of turning. They say they can find him in the dark and can trust him then with the same faith as in the broad light of day. They refer to him as one whom you can tie to. They have no fears that he will either default or betray. He has all the steadiness and fidelity of a well trained plow horse.
He may lack brilliance and finish. He may not be a genius. But as far as his abilities go he is as reliable as time itself, and thus he becomes more or less of an institution in the circle within which he moves and an anchorage for those dependent upon him in any way
whatever.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

What Did She Mean?
The two young ladies had gushed and "dearied" each other until the other passengers in the tram were heartily sick of it, especially as they never lost a chance of getting in a nasty cut at each other.
Just before they parted Angelina obliged Emmeline with a stamp for a letter.
"Oh, I must give you a penny for this!" exclaimed Emmie, as she prepared to leave the car.
"Don't bother, dear," cooed Angie.
"Give it to me next time I see you."
"But you mayn't see me for a long time," protested Emmie.
"Oh, well, the loss wouldn't be great!"
cooed Angie, more sweetly than ever.—

A Cry For Help.
Good advertising benefits any form of business. The right sort of advertising gives you a friendly feeling toward a firm. It makes you believe that it will be both pleasant and profitable to deal with the advertiser. A certain grocer once inserted in the newspapers an advertisement that had this merit. It ran:
"Twins are come to me for the third time. This time a boy and a girl. I beseech my friends to support me
stoutly."—Youth's Companion.

An Old Korean Custom.
In Korea until comparatively recently a man was not allowed the dignity of trousers until he had taken to himself a wife. Your gay bachelor had to wear a skirt and brand himself in the public view as one who had not yet attained a position in which he could support a wife.—London Chronicle.

Their Kind.

upstart Binks gives himself airs? Here he was talking the other day about the delights of his salad days."
"Well, I could have reminded him that they were not chicken salad days."

might be called designing creatures."

INVENTIONS WE NEED.
Plenty of Opportunities For Would Be
and Could Be Edisons.
The world is full of would be Edisons, and the point we want to bring out is that quite a lot of them are could be Edisons.
A man invented the stocking frame for weaving silk stockings. He got the idea while he sat watching his wife work. But surely he wasn't the first man who sat and watched his wife work.
There is a huge fortune for the man who can commercialize weeds. The raw material is inexhaustible, for it renews itself automatically every year.
It might pay a reader in the paper
making trade to follow up this idea.
Then we want a paint that will last as long as the material upon which it is placed and an iron that won't rust.
We want something that will counteract the wearing effect of the atmosphere. It's going to be invented some day, and it may as well be done now,
and you who read this may as well be the person to do it.
In some remote corner of the earth today a could be Edison may be experimenting with the possibilities of cities on the sea. There are millions of square miles of water that are more or less wasted, and sooner or later, as the land area of the earth becomes crowded, people will inevitably take to cities on the sea.
Above all, keep your eyes on Nature,
who is continually making inventions
which she never protects with patents.

FREE FALLING.
Just Collapse, Drop Limply and You
May Escape Serious Injury.
It was stated in a description of a recent aeroplane mishap that the aviator had time to clamber to the upper struts of his machine and that when the crash came he was practically unhurt, the landing wheels and lower part of the machine receiving and absorbing the shock.
Flying men, too, in the early days
of aviation frequently leaped from falling machines and escaped with minor injuries. There is a knack in leaping and an art in falling, and athletes and aviators know both. It is to "fall free" and to offer no resistance
or as little as possible.
It is not Providence that specially guards drunken men and little children when they topple. They collapse, and as the muscles and sinews are not drawn taut and no resistance offered,
but little damage and frequently none
results. The bone of a limp arm would need some force to be applied before it broke. A "resisting" arm would snap almost at once. In a fall
all attempts to recover one's balance,
if unsuccessful, mean greater damage.
Let yourself collapse—fall limply—and you may escape serious injuries. It is the strain and wrench on muscles and sinews which make the bones snap.
Fall anyhow. Don't try to save yourself—and you will.—London Answers.

Never Had 'Em.
Old Dick was an old plantation darkey. He was rarely if ever sick, and he always claimed that it was the way he had lived. One day as he was walking down the street a local merchant,
taking advantage of his ignorance, accused him thus:
"Dick, one of your best friends has just told me that you have ancestors
of the worst sort."
"Now, look heah, Cap'n Gawz, I don't

"Hello," came from the receiver.
"Hello," answered the girl, flushed with pride at being able to give the proper answer.
"Who is this?" continued the voice.
"I don't know," exclaimed the maid.
"I can't see you."—Philadelphia Led-

World's Longest Street.
In Seeborn's "Siberia In Asia" is thus described what is called the longest street in the world: "Siberia was half jestingly described to me as a big tending from Nishni-Novgorod to Keakhta, was about 5,000 miles long,

SUBMERGED SUBMARINES.
Signs by Which They May Be Located
From an Aeroplane.
In answer to a correspondent who asks to what extent a man in an aero-plane can watch the movements of a submerged submarine boat the Scientific American replies:
"We have consulted a naval aeronautic expert on the visibility of submarines from an aeroplane. He states that if the surface of the water is smooth and the water is fairly clear a submarine can ordinarily be observed visually from an aeroplane at any depth the submarine is likely to travel,
which is usually not over 100 feet.
Experiments have been made at Guantanamo, Cuba, and Annapolis, Md., and in the latter case the submarines were able to avoid observation at first by sinking to a muddy bottom. But the aviators soon learned to pick them out by some sign, such, for example, as escape of air bubbles."
In another article on the subject the Scientific American says that when the sea is rough it is much more difficult to discern a submarine. The captain of a warship can watch the course of a submarine by the bubbles it sends to the surface when the sea is smooth,
but these bubbles are scarcely discernible when the sea is choppy. The disturbed surface inevitably makes it more difficult for an observer in an aero-plane to see what is going on below.

AN INCIDENT OF WAR.
General Hugo and His Meeting With a Wounded Moor.
General Hugo, father of that literary genius, Victor Hugo, was a daring soldier and officer. He served brilliantly in both Italy and Spain and especially distinguished himself in putting down bandits and guerrillas. That he was a man as magnanimous as he was brave is attested by a little incident of his career that his son narrated. General Hugo, accompanied by a single trusted hussar orderly, had occasion, at the close of a day of fighting, to ride across a portion of the battlefield as dusk was beginning to fall.
"He heard a feeble sound in the shadows," wrote Victor Hugo. "It was a soldier of the Spanish army, who dragged himself along the roadway, pale, bleeding, gasping and who cried, 'A drink, a drink, in the name of pity!'
"My father, touched, handed his canteen to his faithful hussar, and said:
'Here, give a drink to that poor, wounded fellow.' Suddenly, as the hussar, stooping, leaned over him, the man, a Moor of some sort, snatched the pistol he carried and fired it at my father's head, crying, 'Caramba! The bullet passed so close that the hat fell, and the charger reared wildly backward.
'Give him the drink all the same,'
said my father."—Youth's Companion.

Punch and Judy.
Turkey is far from being the only oriental land in which a performance
very like the English Punch and Judy can be found. Travelers have described entertainments of the kind in Persia, Japan, Kamchatka, India, Egypt,
Syria, Nubia, Siam, Pegu, Ava, Cochin-
China, China and Tartary. Mr. Villers Stuart observed the Egyptian Punch flooring the mamour (chief magistrate) and his carcasses quite in the style of the British Punch's conduct toward headles and policemen, though in the Egyptian version the play ended
morally with the hanging of Punch.
The hero belongs to all ages as well as to most lands. Some have traced him to the Atrian faces of early Italy, and he has even been recognized in ancient Egyptian hieroglyphics.—
London Standard.

Chanak-Kalesi.
Chanak-Kalesi, the straggling town
near the "narrows" of the Dardanelles, means "earthenware castle" in Turkish and is so called from a celebrated pottery on the Asiatic side of the strait.
An agent from this pottery used to be always on the lookout for a wandering European and hooked on to every passing ship. His boatload of gaudy crockery was generally more remarkable for gilding and tawdry color than for taste. But the forms of the vessels were often graceful, even classical, and specimens of the tall water jugs he sells, or once sold, can be seen throughout the Levant, though seldom in London.—London Chronicle.

A Swiss Philanthropy.
The custom still obtains in Switzerland, though not so generally as formerly, of newly married couples making a small gift of money immediately after the wedding ceremony to the school funds as a sort of thanksgiving for their education. These funds are used to provide shoes and clothing for poor pupils who would otherwise be unable to attend school.

On Her Brow.
"Before we married you promised me rings and brooches and beads to wear."
"Well, what of it?"
"I was just thinking that the only beads I've ever worn since are beads
of perspiration."—Detroit Free Press.

What For?
"Pop, what kind of crops can they plant in the sea water?"
"No crops, you foolish child."
"Then why are vessels always plowing the ocean?"—Exchange.

tual. Marjorie—Why shouldn't he? I half an hour in my life.—Lippincott's.

ORDAINED TO PRIESTHOOD

John R. McGinley, Native of Portage County, Receives Solemn Rites at St. Paul —First Mass at Wausau.

Many friends throughout Portage county will be interested in learning that one of its native sons was ordained to the priesthood last week, when John R. McGinley received this sacred rite at the hands of Archbishop Ireland at St. Paul. The impressive ceremony took place at St. Paul last week Tuesday, at which time there was also conferred upon the young clergyman a degree in theology by the Catholic University of Washington, D. C.

Father McGinley came to Wausau later in the week and on Sunday celebrated his first mass at St. James' church. Services began at 9 o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. J. J. Brennan, as assistant priest; Rev. Theo. Wojak as deacon; Rev. John Hohlinger as sub-deacon, and Harold Cawley as master of ceremonies. Father Brennan preached the sermon. The altar and other portions of the handsome edifice were especially decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and an enlarged choir rendered appropriate music. Included in the exceptionally large congregation were many personal friends of the celebrant. Among the relatives who went up from this vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Delaney and daughter Helen of Amherst, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Schweske and daughter of Arnott. A sister, Miss Nellie McGinley, also came from Hoffman, Mont.

Another large congregation attended the vesper services at 7:30 that evening, when the newly ordained priest delivered an earnest sermon.

Rev. McGinley was born in the town of Almond 25 years ago and spent his boyhood days at the farm home in that township. For the past ten years he had been a student in the theological seminary at St. Paul, preparing himself for his life work. A permanent assignment has not been made as yet but the young clergyman will soon be given charge of a congregation in the Green Bay diocese.

Adventists in Camp.

Upwards of six hundred men, women and children are attending the annual camp meeting of Wisconsin Seventh Day Adventists at the local fair grounds. Many prominent speakers are here and the meetings, which are held in several different languages, are being well attended by towns people as well as the members of the denomination. On Tuesday P. A. Hanson and Frank Hiner, both of Grand Rapids, were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. The officials of the camp have extended an invitation to members of the Stevens Point Retailers' Association and the Business Men's association to a 6:30 supper Thursday evening, and the same has been accepted.

Assistant Cashier Married.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning John G. Gliniski of this city and Miss Emily T. Marchel, whose home is in the town of Hull, were married at Sacred Heart church, Polonia. They were attended by Miss Martha B. Marchel, sister of the bride, and Ben J. Gliniski, brother of the groom. A reception at the home of the bride's parents was held during the afternoon and evening.

Both the contracting parties are well known and estimable young people. Mr. Gliniski is assistant cashier at the Citizens National bank, having recently been promoted to that position, but has been connected with the institution for several years. He is progressive and trustworthy. His bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chryst Marchel, well known residents of Portage county, and will be a welcome addition to our city.

Making a Changeless Ink.

In shops where it is damp or chemical fumes are present it is usually difficult to cause labels to stick to bottles or cans. An ink for use on such containers is made as follows: Shellac, 20 grams; dissolve it in a hot solution of borax containing 30 grams of borax to 400 cubic centimeters of water; filter while hot and add a solution made of aniline black, 8 grams; tannin, 0.3 gram; picric acid, 0.1 gram, and ammonia, 15 grams, in water, 10 grams.

It will be found that this ink works nicely and resists the usual chemical and corrosive fumes.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Golf Ball's Strange Flight.

That a golf ball does not travel in a parabolic curve was asserted by Professor C. Vernon Boys during the trial of a patent suit in the British chancery court. Boys, who had been called as an expert on ballistics, described experiments he had made with mechanically propelled golf balls and said that these when driven had more than counteracted the attraction of gravity. "A good flight," he said, "is very nearly straight for a long time, then gradually rising and then falling."

Aztec Emeralds.

Among the Aztec treasures of Mexico were found many fine emeralds. They were exquisitely cut, and it is from this source that the magnificent emeralds now forming part of the royal collection of Spain were supposed to have come.—Exchange.

Imagination.

"A poet needs a great deal of imagination."

"Yes; if he really waded around in the wet grass looking at sunrises and listening for robins he wouldn't last long enough to write much poetry."—Washington Star.

Jack—I hear that you have quit the literary game. Jill—Yes; I despaired of ever writing up to my publishers' printed estimates of my work.—Life.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

Seeley, Who Fitted Czar of Russia, Called to Stevens Point.

F. H. Seeley of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will be at the Jacobs Hotel and will remain in Stevens Point Thursday only, June 24th. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield is now used and approved by the United States Government will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete relief, but closes the opening in ten days on the average case. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, harmful injections, medical treatments or prescriptions." Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. All charity cases without charge, or if any interested call, he will be glad to show same without charge or fit them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

Sound Advice.

"I wish Ingomar to think only of me."

"I would not distrust his thoughts too much from business, my dear," counseled her mother. "Remember you will need a great many expensive things."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Why He Failed.

"I understand his marriage was a failure."

"Yes; he tried to run it the way he ran his business."

"How do you mean?"

"He was never in the office."—Detroit Free Press.

MAN AND BREAD AND DONKEY

A Daily Spectacle in Spain Between Alcala and Seville.

Bread made in Alcala, Spain, is of such exceptional goodness that the village is famous throughout the country as "Alcala of the breadmakers." Each loaf is carefully stamped with the trademark of the town before baking.

An early train leaves Alcala daily for Seville, and before daylight long lines of pannier laden mules begin to arrive from all directions. At the station the panniers are removed and placed in freight cars, the donkeys being driven into similar cars, and mules, drivers and bread are all transported by train to Seville.

Here amid scrambling, hallooing and shrill cries the animals are unloaded, panniers adjusted, and the bread sellers go forth into the streets of Seville, calling their wares and boasting of the fineness of the Alcala bread. They return at midday, pack their empty panniers into the cars, drive in the mules, light their cigarettes and enter the third class carriages to be taken back to their home town, ready for the following day's trade.

A charge of 18 cents is made by the railway company for the round trip of donkey, man and bread.—Argonaut.

New Management.

"This hotel is under new management."

"Why, I still see the old proprietor about."

"Yes; but he got married last week."
